

SCHOOL CHILDREN SELL MANY SEALS FOR RED CROSS

House to House Canvass of Domestic Science Association Will Begin Tuesday Morning.

School children competing for the Red Cross buttons which are to be awarded for selling fifty of the Christmas seals have placed thousands of the stickers over the county.

Fifteen of thirty children in Miss Cora Nolder's school have sold 450 seals and have asked the Anti-tuberculosis society for a second supply. One room at the Seavastopol school has disposed of 800. Forty-three children in the Economy school have not reported the amount of their sales. Part of the proceeds from the sales outside of Richmond will go to the schools for the purchase of literature.

The house to house canvass of the city by the members of the Domestic Science association and affiliated organizations will be made Tuesday. About fifty women have been assigned districts to canvass. The Domestic Science association will use its share of the proceeds to pay the expenses of the visiting nurse. As the demands for service are greater than a year ago the women hope to be able to provide funds to pay an assistant for Miss Florence Benner.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy—The Mothers' Favorite.

"I give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to my children when they have colds or coughs," writes Mrs. Verne Shaffer, Vandergrift, Pa. "It always helps them and is far superior to any other cough medicine I have used. I advise anyone in need of such a medicine to give it a trial." For sale by all dealers.—adv.

WOMEN TO DETECT FELLOW SHOPPER'S EFFORTS TO STEAL

Chief Goodwin Will Appoint Plain Clothes Workers to Mingle with Persons in Crowded Stores.

Did you know that the young woman who may stand next to you looking at gloves in the future may be a plain clothes detective? Or that the nice looking girl trying on coats while you are making inspections may have power to arrest?

You will never know who they are but it is true that within a few days Chief of Police Goodwin will have "lady cops" in Richmond to protect the merchants. He has several in mind now whom he wants to place in stores, ostensibly to shop, but really to watch other shoppers.

The Christmas detective service is to be kept a deep secret. Not only with the identity of the women officers will be carefully shielded, but even the time of their appearance will be unannounced.

The styles this year will make it easier for the nimble-fingered shop-lifter to operate without detection unless carefully watched. Loose, float cape effects furnish the opportunities to filch articles from crowded stores where a dozen women are surrounding every clerk.

No shoplifting has been reported to the police by merchants this year. Two or three of the larger stores will have their private house detectives who will cover the ground until the real Christmas rush comes.

The men are to receive the same treatment as the women as they do not go unsuspected of petty thefts. If possible, the extra plainclothes detectives will be largely women because women can "shop" in stores all day without making any purchases and at the same time create no suspicion whereas men are of a different nature.

It is stated that the merchants of Richmond, the hundreds of dollars every Christmas season and never miss half of it.

RIGHT AUTOMOBILE AFTER LONG FALL

The big six-cylinder automobile which ran off the bridge at Centerville, the night in the fog, has been removed by test cars. The machine jumped from a twenty-foot embankment where the approach to the bridge curves, but alighted on the four wheels. No one was injured. The passengers, who were from Connersville, said the light did not illuminate the road for more than three or four yards in front of the machine, and that the accident occurred while they were driving slowly.

WOULD ABOLISH ALL SCHOOL HOUSES

Dr. Wood Hutchinson, who sprang a surprise at the forty-second annual convention of the American Public Health association, now in session at Jacksonville, Fla., by advocating the abolition of practically all the school houses in this country. He said that three quarters of all necessary things for the children could be better taught out of doors.

SCHWAB GOES BACK TO CANCEL ORDERS NEW YORK REPORTS

[BY LEASED WIRE.]
NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Charles H. Schwab sailed again for England today, adding another chapter to the mystery as to his movements which have recently developed. He went to England only a few weeks ago "for his health," he said.

After interviews with Earl Grey and other directing minds of the English government, he returned to America, bringing back, rumors said, contracts for a large number of submarines, big guns, etc., to be made for England by Mr. Schwab's company.

As a result of these rumors Mr. Schwab was summoned to Washington for an interview with President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan. The purport of the interview was never made public.

It was said however, that Mr. Bryan informed Mr. Schwab that the fulfillment of the contracts with the English government would be a violation of American neutrality, and that the contracts must be forfeited.

CAMBRIDGE PARENT JAILED FOR ATTACK ON SCHOOL'S HEAD

W. V. Haler Throws Stone at E. E. Oldaker and Follows Attack with Fist Assault.

William V. Haler, of Cambridge City, was brought to the county jail today by Sheriff Rayer. He is held on a warrant from Cambridge City charging him with assault and battery on Elmer E. Oldaker, principal of the Cambridge City schools.

The prosecution of Haler is urged by the Cambridge City board of education because of the nature of his provocation. A few weeks ago his son committed a minor offense in the school room in one of the lower grades. The teacher shook him as punishment.

Haler had been drinking and tried to have Oldaker arrested for what he said was assault and battery on his son. There has been some talk in Cambridge City that the teacher became enraged at the boy and attempted to choke him, but the truth of the statement is doubted.

Throws Stone.

When school was dismissed yesterday afternoon, Haler waited for Oldaker to leave the building. He then threw a stone weighing several pounds at the principal's head but missed his mark by a few inches. Personal attack followed. Haler struck Oldaker once with his fist when others intervened and stopped the assault.

The Cambridge City school board wants Haler convicted on a stronger affidavit by which his punishment can be made greater, partly as protection to teachers who admonish pupils and partly because of Haler's past record. He served ninety days when Attorney Jessup was prosecutor, for a similar offense.

Although of no great magnitude, the incident has caused much talk in the town. Part of the citizens sympathize with Haler and his cause against the teachers and part sympathize with the teachers.

SOPHOMORE LANDS ORATORICAL HONOR

Garfield Cox Will Speak for Earlham in Next State Contest.

Garfield Cox, a sophomore, won the oratorical contest at Earlham college last evening and will have the honor of representing Earlham at the state oratorical which is held at Indianapolis next February. Janney Hutton, also a sophomore, won second place and will act as alternate. Gilbert Shambaugh was awarded honorable mention by the judges but will not get a share in the prizes.

"My Brother's Keeper," was the subject of the winning oration last evening, which will be entered in the state contest. Cox handled his subject in a masterly manner. He is experienced as a college orator, having received second place last year. He won the state peace contest after he had been chosen from among six Earlham speakers. It is believed by those who heard him last evening that he will make a high standing in the state contest.

Hutton, who won second place thereby received $20 offered by the athletic association had for his subject, "The Call of the Man Behind." "World Peace and the Present War," was the subject of Shambaugh's oration. Other speakers in the contest were Parke Pender, Martin Kuehn and Edwin Eley. Music was furnished by the college orchestra under the direction of Miss Carolyn Hutton.
